Hospital Board Concerned

We are sure the public of Hospital District No. 100 must be very concerned with the publicity that has been given through the News Medium regarding the future of our Hospital.

A Special Meeting of the Hospital Board was held Feb. 16 with Mr. Keith Everitt, M.L.A. in attendance, to discuss the seriousness of the situation regarding the acute shortage of funds available for hospital construction, and the effect it may have on our particular project.

The Hospital Board is strongly of the opinion that no delay is warranted at this time, especially in view of the numerous delays that have been prevalent to date.

Our plans are advanced to the stage where it would be possible to start construction the latter part of August 1968, and the architect has been instructed to proceed as rapidly as possible to meet this deadline.

Representation has been made to the Hon. J.D. Ross R.A., M.D. Minister of Health, urging him to allow our building program to continue without further delay.

The Hospital Board wishes to assure the public that they are doing their utmost to see that the hospital project goes through and that construction commences in 1968.

Doctors Want Action

The members of the St. Albert and District Medical Society, wish to express their grave concern over the recent decision by the Department of Health to delay further progress on the Sturgeon General Hospital. The lack of this essential service definitely limits the local medical practitioners in their ability to provide the type of care which the people of this area deserve.

We feel very strongly that immediate action must be taken by all persons concerned in order to try and rectify this unfortunate situation. The Medical Society will be holding a meeting on Feb. 26 at which time a joint communication from this group will be issued. F. M. Fairfield, Pres. St. Albert and MD, District, Medical Society.

Muk Luk Winners. Barry Lidell, Sandra Keith, Dave Kilworth, Roger Cass, Dorothy Galloway and Elaine Cuts.

Muk Luk Winners

Several Paul Kane students showed their outdoor stamina at the Muk Luk Mardi Gras staged in Edmonton on Feb. 16 and 17.

Barry Lidell won first in the 100 yard Snow Shoe dash. Sandra Keith took a first in the girls 60 yard snow shoe dash and the two of them took the three-legged snow shoe race.

A second prize went to Dave Kilworth, Roger Cass, Barry Lidell and Holly Nicherson in the toboggan race. Dave Kilworth and Roger Cass won third place in the log sawing contest and Dorothy Galloway came in third in the nail driving.

Elaine Cuts won the girl's half mile Snow Shoe race and won herself a pair of snow shoes.

Council Receives 1968 Budget

At a special council meeting on Feb. 15 called to consider the first draft of the 1968 budget, council considered and approved all municipal expenditures, except the water works, before adjourning at midnight, leaving the revenue and the water works estimates to a later meeting.

Town expenditures fall broadly into three classes: Education requisitions, Hospital and Health Unit requisitions, Municipal costs.

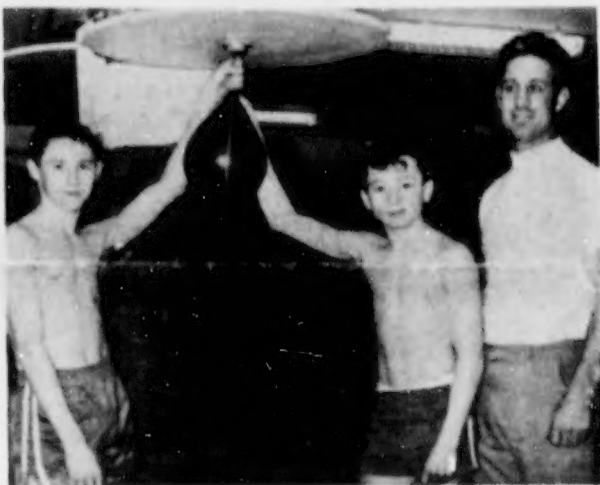

The council have no control whatsoever over items one and two. Item three is the cost of running the town, and it was these proposed expenditures that were under review at the special meeting.

Council had in an earlier directive instructed the town staff in preparing the budget to "hold the line" on all expenses, on the basis of 1967 actual expense. The budget as presented to council showed 1967 municipal expenditures as $935,583.00 and the proposed 1968 municipal expenditures as $956,915.00 as increase of $21,332.00 or 2.3% over 1967. Council during the course of the meeting effected a net reduction of $3,790.00 leaving the 1968 estimates at $953,125.00 an increase of $17,542.00 or 1.9% over 1967.

Alterations to the proposed budget made by council consisted of reducing snow clearing by $2000.00 and re-

Donald Wilson and James Kelly hold the punching bag after winning their events in the Silver Gloves Boxing tournament. Coach Brian Jelly proudly looks on.

A large crowd of over 200 boxing fans were treated to some boxing greats as the best boys in the province competed for the silver gloves championships, Feb. 17 in the St. Albert Community Hall.

Forty three boys entered from as far south as Acme and as far north as Pouce Coupe B.C. The St. Albert Hercules boxing club had five boys entered. Roger Jelley, James Kelly, Don Wilson, Paul Jelley and Wayne Dorn.

James Kelly easily outclassed all the other entries in the 90lbs division to emerge the champion. Don Wilson found real tough competition in the 100lbs division, but beat the best in the province to become the 100lbs champion. Paul Jelley and Wayne Dorn each lost a split decision in the finals as they also came very close to winning. Roger Jelley lost out to a boy from Acme in the semi finals.

The Silver Boy award went to Len White of the South Side Legion boxing club. Len put on an outstanding boxing display as he outclassed the 110lbs division.

Courage, sportsmanship and endurance were on display as one boy emerged the champion of each division. A complete list of the winners is as follows:

55 lbs. division, Bruce Anderson, Rocky Mountain House.

60 lbs. Lloyd Belair, Riverdale boxing club.

70 lbs. Dean Scheck, Pouce Coupe, B.C.

75 lbs. Keith Sorenson, Rocky Mountain House.

80 lbs. Ken Goldade, Pouce Coupe B.C.

90 lbs. James Kelly, St. Albert Hercules.

95 lbs. Brian Ferguson, South Side Legion.

100 lbs. Don Wilson, St. Albert Hercules.

110 lbs. Len White, South Side Legion.

119 lbs. Jules Dumont, Alberta Gym.

125 lbs. Miles White, South Side Legion.

156 lbs. Loren Duncan, South Side Legion.

These boys now make up the Alberta boxing team to compete for Western Canada championships in April.

The boxing cards coming up during the next few weeks will see a lot more competition for places on the provincial team as these champions are challenged for their spot on the team.

School Board Approves Transportation Policy

At a meeting of the Protestant Separate School Board held in Sir Alexander MacKenzie school on Feb. 15 the board's transportation policy was approved but a motion was passed to defer implementation of the policy until the March 14 meeting to give Dr. J. W. Chalmers, the superintendent a chance to look into any other possibilities regarding transportation. For example a possibility of having buses from School Division No. 3 bringing pupils to the separate schools at a cost to the parents. This will be investigated.

The policy approved is to transport daily students to and from schools within the limits for which support is provided by the school foundation program plan.

Transportation will also be provided for pupils authorized to attend school outside the district as those attending the Winifred Stewart school, Victoria Composite, those riding the handibus and for one attending the Jasper Place Composite.

Bus passes are also given to children whose physician indicates it is desirable for them to ride the bus for medical reasons or in the case of certain handicapped children. This service is given if the bus does not have to deviate from its route or make an extra stop.

Bill Penrose gave a progress report on the noon hour negotiations and said a further meeting will be held.

placement of trees by $4150.00. Increasing the municipal grant to the library board by $1000.00 plus an additional $500.00 to cover the forthcoming plebiscite. These together with an accounting error overstating telephones $500.00 and a salary adjustment in recreation administration of $360.00 make up the difference, between the presented and approved.

The St. Albert on Sturgeon Players have obtained the services of Mickey McDonald to direct their spring play. Miss McDonald has several plays under consideration at present. It had previously been announced that Marjorie Knowler would direct the forthcoming production, however, Miss Knowler will be working out of Lethbridge for the next while.

Miss McDonald who was recently in "The Women", is presently directing "Separate Tables" at the Wal-terdale. Anyone interested in joining the St. Albert on Sturgeon Players is invited to telephone Shirley Martin at 599-7570. Male actors in particular are needed.

out its lighter side. The mayor informed those present that after the passing of the by-law restricting motorized toboggans, he was awakened at 3 p.m. by an objector to the by-law. The mayor's comment "motorized toboggans never wakened me at that time".

Councillor Bakker after persistent questioning of a department head remarked

"well I got an answer but not an explanation".

Councillor de Bruijn felt the town had no jurisdiction over "navigable waterways" therefore the by-law restricting power toboggans could not apply to people using the river. Councillor Gibbon felt that only large unfriendly dogs got tickets whereas the small "cute" ones were let go.

library committee spoke on library service in the system. He recommended that an instructional material centre be set up in one of the schools. He suggested such equipment as would make it possible to put a TV science show on tape for future use if the class was not ready for it when the program was presented.

The superintendent was asked to provide funds to start this program in the next budget. This would be subject to approval by the board when they review the budget.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Rogers were appointed to the teaching staff. They are residents of the town and now attending

The bone-chilling wind could not daunt the spirits of some 250 Landing Trail District Scouts and their leaders as they converged on the Sturgeon River to stage their Second Annual Winter Rally. The boys kept busy all afternoon building sleds and bivouacs, lighting fires and sawing logs. A huge pot of hot chocolate kept the gang going. Competing for the District Council Trophy first place went to the Owl Patrol of the 1st. St. Albert Scouts. The Mante Ray Patrol of the 4th St. Albert won second place and were awarded the Quadruple Bone. The Venturer Trophy went, unchallenged, to the 4th St. Albert Venturers. These fellows got off easy, as the Rangers, who defeated them last year were busy at their Thinking Day and were unable to compete this time around.

Each participant was presented with a crest in the form of a snow shoe.

University.

Dr. Chalmers reported that they now had over 150 applications from teachers in the United Kingdom. Letters have been written and pamphlets sent to them. Dr. Chalmers leaves on March 27 and will return April 17. While in the U.K. he will interview prospective teachers in areas such as London, Birmingham, Manchester and possibly somewhere in Scotland.

Dr. Chalmers presented a report to the board regarding the number of days teachers have been absent from the classroom. Out of 11,492 teacher-school days there have been 448-1/2 absentee days. This figure is made up of 47 days absent for personal reasons such as sickness in the family or funerals and so on. The teacher is not paid for this. There are 35 days when professional reasons have kept the teacher away and this is recovered by the board but there are 366-1/2 days where the $16 a day paid by the board is to a substitute teacher and not recoverable.

Plans were approved for the renovation for Sir Alexander MacKenzie school. The superintendent has sent the statement of need to the school buildings board and they will be told how much support will come from the foundation program.

The meeting opened with an open half hour in which parents of children attending Sir Alexander MacKenzie had a chance to question the board.

The board was asked if they intended to join the ungrading system of teaching. They were told that teachers here were not trained for this type of teaching and also numbers in classrooms have to be kept to a lower level than is possible in St. Albert.

The next meeting of the education committee will be held on March 21 in the Sir George Simpson Junior High School.

The annual meeting of the board will be held Feb. 29 at Paul Kane High School.

the Gazette REFLECTS

Starting in 1965 because of representations for various interested bodies, a hospital district was formed covering the St. Albert, Morinville, Legal areas. The government at that time approved a 50 bed hospital to be located in St. Albert north of the river beside the Youville Home. The Hospital Board appealed this order and asked for a 150 beds minimum. After further discussions, rejections and appeals the government in Jan. 1967 approved a 100 bed hospital, which included provision to expand to 300 beds when required. The following nine months passed with very little happening in spite of continuous pressure from the board and in September came the government's order to build a 100 bed hospital. Since then there appears to be nothing concrete, only the governments general announcement that there would be a cut-back on government spending.

The hospital board have worked hard and long to follow every whim and change of direction caused by lack of planning of the government. The board in January 1967 hired an administrator, they purchased ten acres of ground on which to build the hospital, they have to date prepared and presented three different sets of plans. They have met every demand, no matter how unreasonable, made on them by the government.

During the last year and a half taxes have been levied against the M.D. to the extent of $80,000. In St. Albert alone in 1967 this accounted for 3.67 mills an amount of $58,029.

All this work and planning, together with the monies already spent must not be wasted. We must not allow these efforts to go under in the government's austerity program. This project is too far advanced to be scrapped. We urge the government to quickly give approval to proceed and further to give it for a hospital of sufficient size to accommodate the needs of the district for some years to come.

Let us have our hospital so that our local doctors can have available beds for those who need them, not only as it is now, for emergencies and by courtesy of the Edmonton Hospitals.

Let us insist our M.L.A. be heard in the house speaking up for the needs of our community.

Let us through the invitation on the front page, convince the government that many people in this district are very concerned about this matter.

ATA Convention

DR. J. W. CHALMERS

Dr. J. J. W. Chalmers will be the luncheon speaker on Feb. 22 at the A.T.A. annual convention being held on Feb. 22 and 23 at the Macdonald Hotel in Edmonton.

More than 17,000 students in rural areas around Edmonton will have an extended long weekend. All schools in the Sturgeon, Leduc, St. Albert, Wetaskiwin County and Wetaskiwin City school systems will be closed.

Dr. J. W. Chalmers, superintendent of schools of St. Albert Separate School System, luncheon speaker, is an eminent educationalist and author of Alberta. His latest book "Schools of the Foot-hills Province" was published as the Centennial project of the A.T.A.

Dr. Julio L. Bortolazzo, president, College of San Mateo, California is the keynote speaker at this convention and will speak on the changing concepts in education.

Letter to the Editor

St. Albert and District Hospital Board, St. Albert.

In the Feb. 15 issue of the Edmonton Journal, I noticed what seemed to be an insignificant news item on page thirty which informed the citizens of St. Albert that their long awaited hospital has met with still another "delay". It appears our proposed hospital has run the full gamut from 50 beds to 100 beds to 300 beds to 100 beds to an insignificant resting place next to the obituary column.

For over two years we have been favored with conflicting spasmodic reports concerning this vital service for the St. Albert and district residents. I do hope that our efficient and aggressive hospital board and administrator have made provisions with the local police and fire department for crowd control at the sod turning ceremony "late next summer". The only purpose now for such a ceremony seems to be for the burial of newspaper clippings and preliminary plans. I trust the board and the administrator shall be able to leave their steam heated ivory tower long enough to attend this inauspicious occasion.

The pieces of paper can be buried but not some of the residue costs of this failure. As a ratepayer, I believe I deserve answers to the following questions (some of which I have asked before and did not get the courtesy of a reply).

(1) Why have the ratepayers of St. Albert not been sufficiently informed of the "progress" made toward our proposed hospital?

(2) Is it usual for a hospital administrator to be engaged nearly two years before final approval for construction is given?

(3) Is the administrator's substantial salary and expenses, for this period of time, part of the hospital pre-opening expenses which are paid by the provincial government; or do the ratepayers bear this expense?

(4) Why are the members of the hospital board appointed instead of being elected as is the case of the school board and the town council?

(5) What is meant in the Feb. 15 press release by this quotation: "they should just hold up for the time being until their financial situation can be clarified." Is this hospital not paid for by grants from the federal and provincial governments? How can our financial situation not be clear in this instance?

So far, the concern has been for dollars and cents. Isn't it about time that some concern is given for the health needs of some twenty seven thousand St. Albert and district residents? We in St. Albert are fortunate to have well qualified physicians to care for our families. How long can we expect such professional people to remain in this town without hospital facilities or even proper admitting privileges in an Edmonton hospital—(Except for emergency purposes). It would be interesting to know exactly how we in St. Albert benefit from the hospital tax we pay as we cannot even be admitted to a hospital under the care of our own family physician.

Wake up St. Albert and District residents, we are being treated as "Second Class" citizens with our "First Class" tax dollar!!

C. C. Paul.

FROM THE BIG COUNTRY... Alberta
Backwoods Engineer

Often maintained through several generations of beavers, they are continually added to and improved. It has been said that if the beaver's lodge is endangered by flooding, they will break down part of the dam to reduce the water level. Such instinctive reactions made them easy prey for the early hunters, who would damage the dam, then lie in wait.

Beavers are still hunted in northern Alberta, though nowadays with greater recognition of their role in creating fertile water meadows. In southern Alberta, they can frequently be seen in such protected areas as Banff, Jasper and Waterton Lakes National Parks.

The Hat's where it's at

Ever since Captain Palliser, back around 1860, reported the Medicine Hat area as unsuitable for settlement, the locals have been proving him wrong. The good captain, of course, was not to know of the coming developments in irrigation which were to turn the then arid prairie into some of the most productive farmlands in the province. He didn't know either that, just 600 feet below his bootheels lay a deposit of natural gas so vast as to defy the imagination.

Instead, Palliser retired with distinction to the pages of history and it remained for an unknown railway worker, some twenty years later, to make the discovery that brought the big boom to "The Hat." In 1883, the C.P.R. was drilling for water at what is now Aldersim when the probing screw struck a gas pocket. The gas ignited fiercely and — there being no water around — the drilling rig was burned to a cinder.

Apart from mourning the loss of the drilling outfit, nobody did much about the find at first, although certain quantities of gas were tapped for heating purposes. Then, in 1891, a whiff of that far-off smoke somehow got to the nose of C.P.R. President Sir William Van Horne, a forward-thinker if ever there was one. He offered the town the use of a drilling rig if it would look for gas — and the subsequent bonanza was beyond all expectations.

Today, Medicine Hat sits on top of gas reserves in excess of 730 billion cubic feet; a city-owned storehouse that attracts growing businesses like a magnet. Irrigation has turned Palliser's desert into lush farmlands yielding crops of peas, corn, potatoes and sugar beets, while surrounding ranches are among the largest in the Commonwealth.

And as if all that weren't enough, this once "uninhabitable" area boasts the lowest taxes in Alberta.

In all the flag-waving and drum-thumping of Centennial Year, it's hardly surprising that nobody thought to salute that familiar symbol of Canadiana — the shy and industrious beaver. Yet here in Alberta, we owe the beaver particular acknowledgement, for it was the lure of his rich pelt that drew the early fur traders west, and for many years, beaver skins provided the mainstay of our economy.

At first sight, the beaver doesn't much look like a father of industry — or does he? Decidedly chunky, weighing between thirty and forty-five pounds, he has a blunt round head which peers nervously from a heavy coat of dark brown fur. He has a habit of grinding his teeth, which are large, chisel-shaped and yellow. Failing this, he chomps on a stogey of alder wood. Handsome, he certainly is not. But while his looks could only possibly endear him to another beaver, his talents and his industry have earned man's admiration for centuries.

There are so many tales of the beaver's engineering skill that after a while it becomes impossible to separate fact from fancy. In the early 18th Century, for instance, it was commonly accepted that beavers built their dams rather like slaves at a pyramid, some felling trees, others carrying short branches over their shoulders, while special teams mixed mortar, transporting it to the neatly squared dam on their tails — all the while walking on their hind legs like humans.

Old Tales

As late as 1897, one account lauded the beaver's talents as a woodsman. The beaver, it was claimed, was so expert at felling trees, that never would he let one fall to lodge on other trees. Always, the tree would come right down — and always towards the water. Then, "with those sharp little teeth of his," the beaver would cut the timber into manageable lengths. Contemporary studies say this is pure exaggeration. Most beaver-felled trees, they say, simply fall the way they happen to lean — and if the cut tree lodges on another, it never occurs to the beaver to gnaw both down.

Furthermore, say modern naturalists, that old tale about the beaver slapping the ground with his tail to cry, "TIMBER!" isn't true either.

Be that as it may, nobody can deny the beaver's instinctive engineering skills, there for all to see in his dams, canals and lodges. As soon as beaver enter a new area, they start to build a remarkable inter-dependent complex; a community home, guarded by a dam and supplied by wood-transporting waterways.

At the edge of water suitable for damming, they commence a huge family home; an igloo-like structure of interlaced sticks and branches bound by mud.

As work progresses, the dam is started also — so that the lodge is gradually covered by water and the entrance is submerged. Inside, the animals live on a raised platform, comfortable on a surface of dry tree shavings. The walls of the lodge are in the region of eighteen inches thick and their height is as much as eight feet from the lake bottom. Interiors extend to six feet in diameter.

Beaver dams are equally ingenious, having been recorded in heights of up to twelve feet and in astonishing lengths.

Profile of the Week

MRS. LEON RIOPEL

Mrs. Leon Riopel, well known district organist and musician, has served the parish and community well since 1926.

Born Miss Charlotte Cormier, she attended school in Morinville and graduated from music school with a degree in both piano and pipe organ.

In 1926, the Casavant pipe organ, installed in St. John the Baptist Church in Morinville was the largest in any church west of Winnipeg. Miss Cormier had the honor to play this organ from 1926 until 1931, during the pastorate of the late Monsignor Maxime Pilon. Miss Cormier also was choir master and some 70 well trained singers, made a reputation for Morinville, second to none for many years. Such well known soloists as the late Louis Turgeon, Hormidas Boissonnault and his sons Hector and Adalbert, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Brissette, Mrs. Jules Audette, Lucien Robert and Joseph Latour came from this group.

From 1931 until 1962, Mrs. Charlotte Riopel raised a family of five children, but continued to teach the piano and organized "Les Hironnelles" a mixed chorus group and headed many other singing groups.

In 1962, Mrs. Riopel resumed her role at the church organ. Last November by public demand from the members of the congregation, she resumed her place as choir master. In less than two months, with the cooperation of the parishioners, she prepared a Christmas Mass in three parts. Last week, she held an organizational meeting for some 22 members of a junior choir, who will join the adult church choir shortly.

Today, a gracious grandmother to 16 children, Mrs. Riopel still contributes much to the community.

Our Half Acre

A page designed to inform farm readers on current agricultural news and events and to serve as a forum for expression of farmers opinions.

Agricultural Extension Service

The Agricultural Extension Service which has been functioning for forty years is known in each district through the district extension offices which are staffed by a District Agriculturist and District Home Economist.

The main functions of the extension service are firstly to make available to farm families, reliable and proven information and practices in Agriculture and home economics and, secondly to bring this information to farm families through educational programs. These functions are achieved through group discussions, lectures, field demonstrations, field days and farm and office visits.

The district agriculturists and district home economists are the persons who have direct contact with the farm families, and through them the services of many specialists are made available to the farm families. In the field of homemaking specialists help is available for home design, home management, clothing and nutrition. The district agriculturists has specialists in every field of agriculture which he can call upon to give specialized service to farmers.

Agricultural engineers are available to advise on farm building design, machinery, farmstead planning and surveying. The Farm Economics division provides specially trained personnel to advise on accounting and farm management. The plant industry division has personnel who deal with weed control, soils and fertilizers, crops, trees and all field crops. The water resources division provides surveyors who will undertake drainage and other surveys dealing with either the removal or conservation of water. In the livestock division, dairy specialists are available to provide information and advice on all phases of dairying and similar service is available for all other livestock.

In addition to conducting educational programs, both the district agriculturist and district home economist administer the 4-H program in each district and work with other established organizations.

The district agriculturist represents the department of agriculture in the district he serves and acts as a liaison between farmers, farm organizations and the various divisions of the department of agriculture. He is appointed to act as a director on seed plant boards and is the departmental representative on the agricultural service board. In this district the district agriculturist serves as an ex officio member of the Youth Committee of the Edmonton Exhibition Association and the agricultural committee of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Basically speaking the district agriculturist is the link between the farmer, the department of agriculture, agricultural research institutions and other agricultural agencies working toward the betterment of agriculture generally.

The aims and functions of the District Extension office can be accomplished only when all farmers are aware of the services and information available. It is hoped that this page will help achieve this end.

Attention Rape Seed Growers

Rapeseed and mustard seed markets are steadily expanding in Alberta, and the future looks bright.

To insure that Alberta farmers will participate in this bright future, they must plan a program of growing and handling these two totally incompatible crops so as to maintain the purity of each.

Due to the shattering habits of over-ripe pods of rape and mustard, and because of the oily nature of the seed, volunteering into succeeding crops will lead to cause mixtures.

Tolerance rate of rapeseed in mustard is 0.1% while in rapeseed the tolerance rate of mustard is 1%.

Due to these low tolerance levels it would not seem advisable to grow both of these crops in the same area. This could seriously effect the quality of both, and possibly rule out the growing of either in an area.

As this area is very suitable to growing rapeseed, and a large acreage is already being grown, it would be advisable for farmers not to introduce mustard seed into this area.

The only way that this can be properly controlled is by establishing a pure seed control area under the "Seed Control Area Act."

I would advise farmers in this area who are now growing rapeseed, to give this subject some serious thought. If more information is desired on forming a seed control area, please feel free to contact your agricultural fieldman or district agriculturist.

Credit Costs Money

Your District Home Economist - Mrs. Marilyn Hemsing

CREDIT COSTS MONEY!

"Credit buying is either an economic milestone, or a consumer millstone, depending on your point of view" Canadian Homes January 1967.

As of Nov. 1, 1967, Credit Granters were required to clearly state the percent per year being charged for goods purchased on credit.

The Government enacted the Credit and Loan Agreements Act, 1967 to bring all information regarding a credit purchase to the purchaser. It is then up to the purchaser to know how much the article is going to cost him, in dollars and cents.

Certainly, it is important to the consumer to realize the rate of interest being charged, but the actual amount of money he must pay for the article is really the "closest to his pocket-book".

The Alberta Government recently published a leaflet "Using Your Credit". This leaflet is available, free of charge, from your D.H.E. office.

Some Credit Guides pointed out in the leaflet are: Plan to use credit carefully - avoid "impulse buying" on credit.

Avoid overbuying or overborrowing just because you can use your credit. Lesser amounts of credit mean lower dollar costs.

Credit Agreements should be paid in full well before the goods are used up. Avoid contracts that require small monthly payments with a larger amount falling due in the last month.

When committing yourself to credit obligations remember to allow for unforeseen emergencies and expenses.

Know where your payments are to be made and to whom. Not all merchants and dealers finance their own sales.

Know what security you have pledged for the credit. Make your payments promptly - avoid default charges.

In the event of difficulty - consult your creditor immediately to make satisfactory arrangements. You will receive co-operation if you make your problem known to him promptly.

Avoid refinancing except where it is absolutely necessary as this will probably be arranged at a higher rate of charge.

Never sign a blank agreement form and always get a copy of the agreement before taking delivery of the goods or accepting the money on a loan.

Compare details of alternate credit plans before committing yourself to a purchase - be sure the one you choose meets your need.

The credit charge rate per cent per year shown in your agreement is applied in the same manner in all agreements. It is therefore possible to compare rates at which the charges are calculated as well as total dollar charges.

It's your money, spend it wisely!

Ask for your free leaflet "Using Your Credit".

Tree Policy

In 1967 some 150 farmers planted over 60,000 trees in the M.D. of Sturgeon, and this practice has been going on for a number of years as evidenced by the many planted farmsteads in the district.

Trees are supplied free to farmers by the Alberta department of agriculture for the planting of farmstead and field shelterbelts.

Secretary A. Nobert.

D. A. Change

S. C. Powers, District Agriculturist in the Sturgeon M.D. since August 1965, has been promoted to the Edmonton office of the provincial department of agriculture where he will be in charge of province wide weed control entailing experimentation with chemical, cultural methods and crop rotations.

Mr. Powers' activities in Sturgeon M.D. are being continued by B. J. Whitbread retired from a similar position with the county of Strathcona. This is a temporary appointment, but ensures that all department of agriculture programs relative to farm practices in Sturgeon M.D. will be maintained.

Mr. Whitbread spent the summer of 1962 with the Sturgeon Agricultural Service Board and its summer program of warble fly control and weed inspection.

For some 12 years 4-H club activities under the supervision of J. M. Fontaine were held jointly with those of Strathcona in Edmonton.

Grass Policies

It has long been recognized that forage in a crop rotation has many beneficial effects as well as providing fodder for livestock.

To encourage greater use of forage crops in rotations the Alberta department of agriculture together with the local agricultural service board provide financial assistance for the purchase of forage seed for specific purposes.

For weed control or soil conservation half the cost of seed for twenty acres is paid by these two agencies. Farmers interested in establishing a rotation receive a grant of $70 toward the purchase of forage seed if they agree to establish an acceptable rotation on their farm. In seriously weed infested land or on soil subject to wind and water erosion a more substantial amount of assistance is available to enable the farmer to reclaim such land and make it productive.

Assistance under these various policies is available through application to the agricultural fieldman. Persons interested in or in need of assistance for purchase of grass seed should call at the fieldman's office in the municipal building in Morinville at their earliest convenience.
